INSPIRING THE NEXT GENERATION

On the occasion of our 60th Anniversary and for the third year in a row, we will hold an exciting gala evening at the United Nations honoring the dreamers and leaders of our world making a positive impact on the future of Asia. These inspiring men and women represent the spectrum of achievement – those who have led from positions of power, as well as those who have done so from ground-level laboratories of innovation.

Over the course of the past two years Asia Game Changer honorees have included Alibaba CEO Jack Ma; the icon of girls' rights Malala Yousafzai; the Comedian and Advocate Aasif Mandvi; Mariam Al-Mansouri, UAE Air Force's first-ever female fighter pilot; the ground-breaking banker Chanda Kochhar; and the iconic architect Shigeru Ban. As U.N. Secretary-General Ban Ki-moon said, "From e-commerce to the environment, from the arts to academia, from the sciences to social development, we see Asians helping Asians and building a better world. This is what the Asia Society and its Game Changer Awards are all about."

This year we are particularly excited to bestow in person a Lifetime Achievement Award to one of the world's most revered architects, I.M. Pei. We will also feature a true "Game Changer in the Making" Joey Alexander, the 13 year-old jazz piano prodigy from Indonesia.

The theme this year is "Daring the World to be Inspired." You are encouraged to include at your tables your children, grandchildren, your firm's young associates, or colleagues who will be inspired by these remarkable leaders. The 2016 Asia Game Changer Awards and Dinner will be a night to remember!
